'Groundhog Day'

Hundreds voice protest against proposals to downgrade maternity unit at Horton

By Katriona Ormiston

AS a seven-year-old girl, Victoria Prentis remembers standing up in front of her class at primary school and giving a speech against a threat to the maternity unit at Banbury's Horton General Hospital.

The then Overthorpe Preparatory School pupil was born at the hospital and at the time her sister had just been delivered there.

Almost 40 years later, Mrs Prentis has a wider audience as North Oxfordshire MP, but she is fighting the same battle alongside residents against plans to downgrade services at the Horton's midwifery-led unit.

She told the Guardian: "It feels like Groundhog Day.

"The services have been threatened over and over again since I was seven. But it is worse this time."

Mrs Prentis joined up to 500 protestors at the entrance to the hospital in Oxford Road on Saturday night campaigning to maintain the unit.

Organised by Keep the Horton General, the protestors sang a campaign song to the tune of 'History' by One Direction but altered with their own lyrics.

Group chairman Keith Strangwood said: "They are trying to downgrade the hospital, this time by stealth.

"The midwives are at their wits' end; they are emotionally and physically stressed out beyond belief. They don't know what's going to happen."

A pre-consultation on plans to change the paediatrics, maternity and accident and emergency (A&E) services was due to be unveiled in mid-July and run until October.

However, on July 22, Oxford University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust said the obstetric, doctor-led service could end in September because they cannot fill five empty doctors' posts.

The campaigners have warned of the risks to mothers and babies if a birth goes wrong and extra pressure on the John Radcliffe Hospital in Oxford.

Mrs Prentis, a 45-year-old mother-of-two, has an extra reason to throw her weight behind the campaign, having lost her firstborn.

Although she herself could not give birth at the Horton because of a high risk of pre-eclampsia, it

Inquest concludes teenager's river drowning was 'a tragic accident'

By George Welch

THE death of a 16-year-old who drowned when swimming with friends in the river Thames was "a tragic accident", an inquest concluded on Tuesday.

Ellis Downes, 16, of Harwell, near Didcot, was swimming with friends in the River Thames on Saturday, May 7, when he went missing.

His body was later found two days later by divers.

Ellis disappeared at about 9pm while swimming in the river at Culham and his body was found near Donkey Bridge, opposite Abingdon Marina.

After Ellis disappeared, his friends searched the river but could not find him. Even when police officers arrived and used their torches, the dirty water hindered the rescue mission.

Witnesses confirmed how Ellis had swum across the river to Abingdon Marina but got into difficulty while swimming back and that his friends had dived into the water to help but were unable to find him.

When Ellis swam to the other side and was visibly "exhausted", according to one witness account, a friend offered to drive round and pick him up via car.

But Ellis declined and tried to swim back before getting into trouble.

Oxfordshire assistant coroner Jeremy Chipperfield described his death as "a tragic accident".

Two friends – brothers Dean and Jack Gunning – jumped into the water to try to rescue Ellis.

Dean's account said: "As I dove in, I went numb as the water was freezing cold, I couldn't breathe."

College student Ellis had voluntarily entered the water and a pathological report confirmed that neither alcohol nor drugs contributed to his death.

In May, Thames Valley Police issued a public apology over the treatment of the Ellis' family.

The police apologised to the family for the lack of communication and compassion shown during the search for Ellis.

Ellis' sister, Alex Downes, took to Facebook when Ellis went missing to criticise the police search effort, saying that not enough resources were deployed to find her brother.

Thames Valley Police referred itself to the police watchdog, the IPCC, over the "botched" operation to find Ellis' body after the family said they had to hire a boat and private divers to find him.

Ellis' sisters Taylor and Alex Downes attended the inquest, but did not want to comment.

Driver sought

OXFORD: A hit-and-run driver sped off after colliding with a cyclist in Oxford over the weekend.

At about 7.35pm on Saturday, a green Vauxhall Corsa turned out of Rymers Lane in Cowley on to Between Towns Road where it collided with the cyclist.

The driver of the car failed to stop at the scene of the accident and turned into Beauchamp Lane. The cyclist, a 73-year-old man, sustained an injury to his chest.

Police are appealing for witnesses or anyone with information to call them on 101.

Move welcomed

OXON: A leading first aid charity has backed new Government legislation to improve child safety.

New nursery and preschool staff in Oxfordshire will receive paediatric first-aid training for the first time from this September.

The St John Ambulance charity has welcomed the proposals and is urging childcare providers in the county to ensure they have sufficient training in place as the change in legislation looms.

Signs concern

WOODSTOCK: Concerns have been voiced over confusing road signs that have gone up in Woodstock.

The signs put up on the town's A44 Oxford Road caused concern for local councillor Sharone Parnes who called them 'buffoonish'.

The county council said the signs, one of which includes a change in the speed limit, were put up by traffic management contractors ahead of the Countryfile Live event, which takes place next week in the grounds of Blenheim Palace.

Warning of doctor shortage

was the Horton she was rushed to in an emergency when her blood pressure spiked days after having her daughter.

She said: "When I desperately needed the Horton when my youngest was born they really stepped up to the mark. They stabilised my blood pressure and everything was fine.

"The point is that you need a service that can cope with emergencies. There are major dangers in pregnancy both for mothers and babies."

She pointed out that at Chipping Norton's midwifery-led unit about 25 per cent of women are transferred to an obstetric service because of complications – usually to the Horton.

Mrs Prentis added: "That's a really tough experience, it's a nightmare. There you are in a very frightening experience being shipped around the countryside and potentially stuck in traffic."

The Horton sees about 1,500 births a year and has eight middle grade doctor posts, of which only six are filled.

Three have now served their notice to leave at the end of September and early October, and the Trust says they have not been able to fill the posts "despite advertising these posts on a number of occasions".

Paul Brennan, Director of Clinical Services said: "We are trying very hard to fill these posts, but we are also making contingency arrangements in case recruitment continues to prove unsuccessful. We want to keep the service as it is now."

However, campaigners say the hospital services are being downgraded "by stealth" because the Trust has not properly advertised the positions, doctors are put off jobs at hospitals with an uncertain future, and training opportunities alongside the posts have been cut.

Mrs Prentis wrote to the Trust on Monday urging them to make the posts more appealing.

She added: "My concern is that the posts are being made deliberately unattractive to obstetricians. We want to make sure the Trust makes them as attractive as possible."

A 'Hands Around Our Horton' event is being held on Sunday, August 21, from 10.30am for residents to link arms surrounding the hospital.

Ruling due on 1,300 homes and school

Housing decision

• A map of the proposed site

By Katriona Ormiston

PLANS to build almost 1,300 homes, a primary school and a community centre on the southern edge of Banbury have been recommended for approval.

Cherwell District Council officers say two planning applications making up the overall scheme should be given the go-ahead in a report compiled for councillors to consider at a meeting today, August 4.

The two different applications are being heard together because the parcels of land for them sit next to each other and a link road would merge the two as one development.

But two different decisions will be made.

The complete development would lie on fields south of Banbury Academy and Blessed George Napier School, bordering Salt Way to the north, the A361 Bloxham Road to the west and stretching to White Post Road to the east.

The first application for 1,000 homes was submitted by Gallagher Estates and includes a primary school, a local centre, a community centre and secondary school playing fields for Blessed George Napier. The second for 280 homes by Gladman Developments includes play areas and a 34-space car park to replace lost on-street parking in White Post Road.

Of the larger first application, the officers say: "This general approach makes efficient use of land in a sustainable location which officers support in principle and assists in delivering the small- to medium-sized dwellings that are recognised as in greatest need in the district."

In total, 20 responses from residents were sent to the council including concerns over traffic, encroachment of Banbury's urban sprawl on Bodicote, and changes to ancient Salt Way from a countryside path to a housing estate track.

Most of the site is allocated for housing as Banbury 17 in the Cherwell Local Plan 2011-2031.

However, the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government has requested that no decision be made until he has had the chance to review the council's ruling and decide whether to call in the application.

Therefore, the councillors can only cast their vote on what they intend to decide.

They can, however, decide on the second smaller application for 280 homes.

The officers say: "It is prudent for members [of the committee] to have regard to the district's ongoing housing supply position and the importance of development taking place on strategic allocated sites such as this."

The planning committee meeting starts at 2pm at Bodicote House, near Banbury.

Police operation

BICESTER: A crackdown on anti-social behavior in Bicester has launched focusing on parks and open spaces.

Thame Valley Police stepped up their patrols on Friday to tackle crimes including criminal damage and drugs.

PC James Waterson, from Bicester neighbourhood policing team, said: "Historically, during the month of August we have seen an increase in reports of noisy gatherings in our local open spaces, as well as reports of graffiti, criminal damage to play equipment and, on some occasions, reports of drug use."

The extra patrols as part of Operation Jamb 2 will be running until September 4.

It is the third year the operation has run.

Project starts

BANBURY: Building work on a £1.2 million project to revamp and extend a Banbury leisure centre is under way.

The plans for Woodgreen Leisure Centre include a new 50-station health-and-fitness gym suite, dedicated dance and spinning studios, an integrated café and library, larger changing rooms, new toilets, a purpose-built reception area and a meeting room.

They were announced in March by Cherwell District Council and are contracted to Parkwood Leisure.

The gym is to open in September and the other new facilities are to be in place by winter.

Cancer survivor dies tackling cycling challenge for charity

By Katriona Ormiston

A BICESTER cancer survivor died during a 100-mile cycle challenge through Surrey and London while raising money for Cancer Research UK.

Robin Chard, 48, suffered a cardiac arrest at Kingston Bridge at about the 25-mile mark of the Prudential RideLondon-Surrey 100 on Sunday.

Donations posted alongside tributes on his fundraising page have already broken the £60,000 mark - Mr Chard's original target was £400.

Mr Chard's wife Vickie said: "Robin was doing something he loved to raise money for Cancer Research UK, a cause that was very important to him after losing his father, his mother's partner and my mother to cancer.

"I'd like to thank everyone who has helped and supported Robin and me, especially the event stewards, the event team and the amazing staff at Kingston Hospital."

Mr Chard, who had himself beaten Hodgkin Lymphoma, was treated at the scene by fellow riders and medics but later died at Kingston Hospital.

He described the challenge as a "personal crusade" on his fundraising page, adding: "Those that know me probably think I'm totally barking even attempting such a feat, but I want to help raise money for this charity to try and find more effective and permanent cures and improve the treatments available today."

A fellow cyclist posted: "You are an inspiration to many and will remain so for a long time."

Mr Chard was among more than 27,000 cyclists who signed up for the 160km event, which started at Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park and finished at The Mall.

Organisers, The London & Surrey Cycling Partnership, offered their "sincere condolences" to his family and friends.

A total of 33 riders were taken to hospital and, of those, seven riders remain in hospital. Three riders were seriously injured.

Executive director of fundraising and marketing at Cancer Research UK, Ed Aspel, said: "We are very grateful that he chose to cycle in RideLondon to support Cancer Research UK, and would like to express our deepest sympathy to his loved ones at this difficult time."

MP drums up trade

• MP John Howell on a site visit

HENLEY MP John Howell returned this week from a visit to Nigeria as part of the Prime Minister Theresa May's trade envoy.

Dr Howell has been designated responsibility for relations with Nigeria since 2012, one of 21 Government envoys covering about 50 countries.

The envoys engage with emerging markets where substantial trade and investment opportunities have been identified by the Government.

Speaking of his visit he said: "It was both a highly enjoyable and fascinating visit which took forward the opportunities of doing business between the two countries and portrayed the UK in the best possible light."

Howell also commented on how his envoy was affected by the recent Brexit vote, saying: "It is a sign of the commitment the UK government is making to Nigeria and to doing business there. Brexit makes the need to get business deals in operation all the more urgent but it doesn't change that commitment."

Dr Howell visited an oil refinery and a new development on the Lagos seafront, as well as the Nigerian stock market.

Never growing up in Oxford

A mock-up of The Oxford Paper, out next week

Publisher enters into the weekly paid-for market

By George Welch

TAYLOR Newspapers, publishers of the Oxfordshire Guardian, would like to introduce you to our new paid-for newspaper The Oxford Paper, launching next Friday, August 12.

The Oxford Paper will cover local news and sport, education and business with a comprehensive leisure and entertainment section.

It will be available to pick-up from 600 shops across Oxfordshire.

The Oxfordshire Guardian has seven editions across the county; Abingdon, Didcot, Oxford, Witney, Wantage, Wallingford and, most recently, Bicester. They also cover Henley, Banbury, Thame, Chipping Norton, Faringdon and the surrounding areas.

The Oxford Paper, the first new paid-for newspaper to launch in Oxfordshire in 80 years, will include stories from these and more, with new material such as a What's On guide.

Howard Taylor, managing director of Taylor Newspapers, said: "The demand for our free newspapers has been such that it makes logical sense to expand into the paid-for market.

"It is something that we have been considering for some time and although across the country paid-for titles have been struggling to maintain their circulations we are of the opinion that what goes around comes around.

• MD Howard Taylor

"By pitching The Oxford Paper at a fair price of 60p with a generous margin to the retailers we hope to further our reach in the county and by focusing on the printed newspaper we hope to re-vitalise some of the traditional values of a newspaper that we believe may have been lost to the Internet."

One of the noteworthy additions is an extensive entertainment section, which will consist of 16 pages of features ranging from health to business pages.

The entertainment section will also reveal what is going on at the local theatres and art centres alongside travel, education, food, shopping and lifestyle pages.

The first edition of the Oxford Paper will also have an eight-page pull-out of an old copy of the Illustrated Oxford Journal dating back to 1916. It is one of the UK's oldest papers, with the first edition dating back in May 1753, costing 2d.

To get in touch, call us on 01235 511700.

Consumer champions Which? have now joined the thousands of customers who recognise that Cloudy2Clear Windows really are a business that you can TRUST. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has received the coveted 'Which Trusted Trader' status after going through a rigorous accreditation process entirely focussed on customer service.

If your double glazing has misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 25 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Whilst a number of tradespeople perhaps don't focus on customer care as much as they should do, we make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle.

Locally Cloudy2Clear service the Oxfordshire area from their local depots and manager James Miller agrees that this approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated as both my customers and, obviously a body as nationally important as Which? now recognise.'

Study reveals a change in the super-rich around world

THE super-rich from developing countries now make up a greater proportion of the world's one per cent of richest people, according to an Oxford University study.

The study examined the varying fortunes of the world's richest people between 1988 and 2012 to identify the parts of the world the top one per cent came from.

Citizens of the advanced economies still made up the biggest share at 79 per cent of the global top one per cent in 2012. But this share is on a downward trend, seven to 11 percentage points lower than between 1988-2005.

The region with the fastest growth in its share of the world's richest elite is developing East Asia and the Pacific, explained largely by China's economic rise.

Professor Sudhir Anand, of the Department of Economics, said: "The turning point for the emerging economies appears to have been around 2005. That is when its citizens increasingly started to enter the ranks of the global rich."

Overall, the study found there was less of a gap between advanced and developing countries compared with previous decades.

Rise in prison violence

By Dominic Thomas

ASSAULTS in Oxfordshire's prisons reached an all-time high last year, according to the Ministry of Justice's latest figures.

The trend reflects a 30 per cent national increase in recorded assaults in prisons between 2014 and 2015, as numbers hit a record high.

In Oxfordshire, the county's main prison HM Bullingdon, in Arncott, near Bicester, has seen a 70 per cent rise in assault incidents between 2014 and 2015, to its highest recorded level.

This included a trebling of serious prisoner-on-prisoner assaults, with figures rising from 10 to 31 year on year, and a doubling of all inmate-on-inmate assaults from 60 to 123 in the same period.

The prison also experienced five deaths last year, its highest number recorded, three of which were self-inflicted.

Incidents of self-harm at the HMP Bullingdon also increased from 77 to 183 between 2014 and 2015 - its highest figure since 2009.

Former prisoner and prison commentator Eric Allison said: "It's a combination of overcrowding, mental health, staff shortages and spice [the now-banned legal high]. They are just in an absolute mess and they are all dangerous places. Bullingdon will be no exception."

Last month, an unannounced inspection of HM Bullingdon by the Police Inspectorate found the prison to be holding 27 per cent more prisoners than its certified amount of 869.

It also criticised the prison's response to the rise of the new legal high as 'weak'.

The overall summary read: "At the time of the inspection overall outcomes were not good enough and the prison carried some significant risks."

Meanwhile, at Huntercombe, a much smaller prison near Henley, which changed from a juvenile to an adult category-C prison in 2010, recorded its highest number of assaults since the change.

Huntercombe houses exclusively foreign nationals, mostly awaiting deportation. Its number of self-harm incidents also increased by almost a third over the last two years from 63 to 93.

Mr Allison said: "I have been a student of the prison system for many years and without a shadow of a doubt it is in a worse state than it has ever been."

Speaking after the figures were published, new Justice Secretary Liz Truss, said: "The level of violence in our prisons is unacceptable. I am clear that safety in prisons is fundamental to the proper functioning of our justice system and a vital part of our reform plans.

"There are a number of factors including the availability of psychoactive substances in prisons which must be tackled.

"It will take time to address these longstanding problems. I am determined to make sure our prisons are safe and places of rehabilitation."

'Celebrity' driver

Mr Adams, of Wallingford, parked his bus in Jericho, Oxford, to help a 90-year-old lady called Maureen. His act of kindness was captured by a builder using his smartphone and sent to the bus company.

The 54-year-old, who has been a bus driver for 30 years, said it was something he did for people every day.

Concern raised

KIDLINGTON: Worried residents contacted police after a series of arrows and crosses appeared on pavements outside Kidlington homes.

The white markings were initially thought to be a code used by burglars to target homes, but were later found to be the work of running club Hash House Harriers, which uses them to guide its runners.

Robbery action

OXFORD: The sixth year of Operation Buzzard has been launched as police crack down on street robberies.

They are working alongside language schools and local authorities to reduce the risk until September 30.

Legal challenge lost over cuts to children's centres

• Campaigners protest (Credit Pier Corona)

By Dominic Thomas

A HIGH Court challenge to Oxfordshire County Council's plans to cut funding to more than half its children's centres has been dismissed.

The court confirmed on Monday that the case against the council had been rejected after campaigners argued that its decision-making had been unlawful.

It followed the decision by the council earlier this year to cut funding to the centres and replace them with ten community hubs, none of which are guaranteed to provide child care.

The judges' decision was welcomed by the council's member for children, education and families Melinda Tilley, who said: "Clearly I'm pleased with the decision of the High Court to dismiss the application for the judicial review. It has been a matter the council has taken extremely seriously. We have sought to defend our decisions throughout, and are pleased that the court's decision now brings these particular matters to a close.

"We are creating a new service that will meet the needs and aspirations of some of the most vulnerable children in Oxfordshire.

"I'm very aware of the strength of feeling in relation to this, and have always sought to reassure the users of our children's centres that we will do all we can to continue to provide needed support and help."

Speaking of the decision, Jo Lovell, of the Save Oxfordshire's Children's Centres campaign, which fought the plans, said: "We are waiting to hear the reasons why the case against the council was unsuccessful.

"To hear that the judge has ruled in favour of the County Council has been a huge surprise.

"I hope when the full judgement comes out we will have a better understanding of how the judge interpreted the council's actions.

"In particular we'd like to know whether the judge thinks the Council's assessment of need was lawful, whether he thinks Councillors had 'due regard' of the impact of the decision on children and families and whether he believes they had an 'open mind' when considering closures."

The 44 centres are due to continue running until March next year, after the council decided to withdraw £6 million funding due to government cuts.

Firms in running for accolades

THREE Oxfordshire businesses have been named as finalists for a national business award in November.

More than 140 of Britain's leading businesses, business leaders and social enterprises, of all sizes and disciplines are finalists in the 2016 Lloyds Bank National Business Awards.

Property business Finders Keepers, in Oxford, and marketing consultants Webmart, in Bicester, have been nominated for Employer of the Year, while Newton Europe, in Abingdon, has been put forward for the Entrepreneur of the Year.

Described as "the Oscars of great British business" by David Cameron, former Prime Minister, this year's award ceremony will take place on Tuesday, November 15, at the Grosvenor House, Park Lane.

Management consultants Newton Europe were named Business of the Year, Employer of the Year and the Large Business Award in the 2016 Oxfordshire Business Awards.

CEO of Webmart Simon Biltcliffe said: "[We are] delighted that the unique culture and environment that we have created here at our print management business has been recognised as one of the best in the country, and if you can do it in the print industry it shows you can do it in any type of business."

Father's tributes to son killed in fight against IS

By Dominic Thomas

AN Oxford man has paid tribute to his son who was killed fighting the so-called Islamic State in Syria last month.

Dean Carl Evans, 22, of Reading, was reported dead on July 21 after engaging in a battle in Manbij, northern Syria, with the Kurdish People's Defence Units.

His father John Evans, who is from Wallingford and lives in Oxford, paid tribute via social media last week, saying: "To all my friends and family for those who knew my son, Dean Carl Evans at the young age of 22 sadly lost his life in Syria fighting for our country.

"He was loved and will be missed by all his family and friends. RIP son."

He later posted, saying: "I would like to say a massive big thank you to all my friends and family who sent their condolence for the loss of my son.

"He would have been very proud and would have regarded you all as his brothers and sisters."

Mr Evans was one of many foreign international volunteers currently serving in the Kurdish YPG (People's Defence Units) militia.

His military identity photograph was published on social media next to a picture of a Slovenian national, who was also reported dead at Manbij, with a caption reading "2 foreign #YPG fighters martyred in #Manbij. British: Dean Carl Evans, Slovenian: Martin Gruden. #Twitterkurds."

He is the second British fighter to die fighting Isis, following the death of Konstantinos Erik Scurfield, a former Royal Marine from Yorkshire, who died in March last year while also fighting for the YPG in Syria.

A statement from the Foreign and Commonwealth Office said it could not confirm or deny Mr Evans' death, as it currently had no presence in Syria.

It also warned against other British nationals travelling there.

A spokesman said: "The UK has advised for some time against all travel to Syria.

"As all UK consular services there are suspended, it is extremely difficult to confirm the status and whereabouts of British Nationals in Syria.

"Anyone who does travel to these areas, for whatever reason, is putting themselves in considerable danger."

Council blocks knocking down of former F1 base

By Katriona Ormiston

PLANS to bulldoze Caterham F1 team's former headquarters between Witney and Chipping Norton have been blocked by a ruling from West Oxfordshire District Council.

The council's cabinet has ratified an Article 4 Direction which stops the site's owners from demolishing Leafield Technical Centre at Langley without planning permission.

It is the first time WODC has used this planning regulation to protect commercial buildings.

Owners Leafield Holdings Ltd, a property investment company, bought the site after the F1 team collapsed and administrators put the property up for sale for £5.5 million.

The firm wants to build housing on the 28-acre site. However WODC does not want to lose the employment land.

It has 150,000sq ft of buildings and supported 230 jobs while Caterham F1 was based there.

WODC cabinet member for strategic planning and economy, Warwick Robinson, said: "The Leafield Technical Centre is a very important site for employment in the district, particularly for firms in the engineering and hi-tech sectors. As a modern commercial complex, there is no reason why it can't continue to provide a centre for high-value jobs. It would be wrong to see that potential lost."

• The 28-acre site had 230 jobs as home to Caterham F1

Councillors on WODC's cabinet agreed the Article 4 direction at a meeting on Wednesday last week. They said the council knew of a company that wanted to buy it and use it as an employment complex.

A report prepared for the meeting by WODC's head of planning and strategic housing, Giles Hughes, accused Leafield Holdings Ltd of deliberately letting the site fall derelict.

It added: "The new owners then set about stripping out landscaping, and the building was left open to the weather and intruders. This is rendering the site unattractive both physically and to potential future occupiers. These works appear to have been carried out to support the new owner's argument that it is a derelict/brown-field site and as such should be redeveloped for housing."

The Guardian tried unsuccessfully to contact the owners.

Faster service unveiled

• From left, Cllr Nick Carter, Cllr Matthew Barber and BT's regional partnership director Paul Bimson unveil the faster broadband service for Ashbury

A VILLAGE is the first community in the Vale of the White Horse to benefit from the second phase of the Better Broadband for Oxfordshire partnership project.

About 230 homes and businesses in Ashbury are now able to access faster fibre broadband as a result of the partnership's work.

The partnership is led by Oxfordshire County Council and BT as part of the Government's Broadband Delivery UK programme.

Residents, local businesses and representatives from the partnership were in Ashbury on July 29 to celebrate the village becoming the first area in the district to benefit from the project.

The introduction of quicker broadband speeds have been co-funded by Vale of the White Horse District Council and OxLEP (Oxfordshire Local Enterprise Partnership).

County councillor, Nick Carter, said: "With Oxfordshire firmly over the 90 per cent superfast coverage target, it is good news the programme is now reaching even more premises."

999 scheme proves worth

By Dominic Thomas

A LIFESAVING initiative between fire and ambulances services across the region has been hailed as a success.

Firefighters from stations in Abingdon, Didcot, Buckingham and Wokingham are being trained by South Central Ambulance Service (SCAS) to provide an immediate first response to medical emergencies before to ambulances arrive.

The scheme has been running since mid-November and aims to ensure an appropriately trained first responder is on the scene as quickly as possible.

Nigel Wilson, area manager for operations and resilience for Oxfordshire County Council's Fire and Rescue Service, said: "This pilot scheme is an excellent example of effective partnership working, that will see skills and resources shared to enhance the service being offered to the local community.

"A swift response is often crucial in a medical emergency and this scheme means that where appropriate, firefighters can be mobilised to start to give medical treatment before the arrival of the ambulance crew. The extra training and equipment received by fire crews also means they have new skills that can be used at fires, road traffic collisions and other incidents, both for firefighter safety and to assist SCAS."

Nic Morecroft, SCAS lead community response manager, said: "We are pleased to have embarked on this trial with our partner organisations and are incredibly grateful for their commitment and support in order to get it up and running for the benefit of the local communities.

"Having the extra response in Abingdon, Didcot, Wokingham and Buckingham will complement our already existing Community Responder schemes and public accessible defibrillators which are also in the area helping to save more lives."

The partnership said the scheme would enable emergency workers to provide basic lifesaving skills and support to patients quicker than before.

In cases of cardiac arrest, the chances of a person's survival decrease by 14 per cent for every minute without defibrillation.

Michelle Archer, of SCAS, said: "We will shortly be moving to a five-day immediate emergency care course that will benefit both the fire first aid training and co-responding, which will provide consistency and enhance our working relationship with our partner organisation.

"This collaboration work is ongoing with ourselves and Oxfordshire Fire and continues to benefit the patients we serve."

Film company admits breaches

A PRODUCTION company has pleaded guilty to two health and safety breaches after Star Wars actor Harrison Ford broke his leg on set.

The 74-year-old star behind the character Han Solo was airlifted to the John Radcliffe Hospital, Oxford, after being hit by a hydraulic door on the Pinewood Studios set.

Foodles Production UK Ltd admitted the charges at Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court and will be sentenced at Aylesbury Crown Court on August 22.

The incident took place during the filming of Star Wars Episode Seven: The Force Awakens in June 2014.

In a statement, the Health and Safety Executive, which brought the prosecution said: "During the filming of 'Star Wars Episode Seven: The Force Awakens,' the actor Harrison Ford was badly injured after he became trapped under a rapidly-closing, metal-framed door.

"The power of the door's drive system was comparable to the weight of a small car."

Prosecuting on behalf of HSE, Andrew Marshall said there was a 'risk of death' to the actor.

The actor was walking through the door on the Millennium Falcon set, believing the door not to be live.

However the door, which was being operated remotely, closed on him as he walked back through and he was pinned to the ground.

Rural crime sees big rise as thieves target farmers

By George Welch

RURAL crime rose by 16 per cent in Oxfordshire in 2015 over the previous year and cost almost £750,000, despite remaining broadly static at a national level.

The figures formed part of home insurers NFU Mutual's annual Rural Crime Report, published on Monday, revealing the cost of rural crime to the UK economy has reached £42.5 million a year.

According to the insurer, the items most commonly targeted by thieves across Oxfordshire over the last 12 months were farm tools, garden equipment and quad bikes.

Harvey Merrins, NFU Mutual agent in Oxfordshire, said: "It is disappointing to see levels of rural crime rising in Oxfordshire. Rural thieves are becoming increasingly sophisticated and using computers rather than boltcutters to steal from farms and country properties."

Farmers and police have been working hard to adopt high-tech security measures to tackle the problems which include cloning tractor identities, advertising non-existent machinery in agricultural publications and stealing GPS computer systems.

A Thames Valley Police statement said: "The report highlights the importance of policing in rural communities, which presents its own unique challenges, and we will continue to work hard with communities and partners to reduce crime and the fear of crime in Thames Valley. Our figures show that there has been a rise of 21 per cent in the reporting of rural crimes in 2015 across the force area."

There has been a shift in the items being targeted at rural homes as well with the theft of garden equipment being cited as the biggest growing trend along with 4x4s. Most of the NFU Mutual agents surveyed (65 per cent) also reported that thieves in their area were becoming more sophisticated in the way they operated and cyber crime was also a growing concern.

The survey revealed that social media was the main tool for sharing information about crime in rural communities.

Waste and recycling services to change in West Oxfordshire

WEST Oxfordshire District Council has announced new waste and recycling services charges following cuts made by Oxfordshire County Council.

The district council is no longer receiving recycling credits for garden waste, meaning a small charge to cover costs is being made. For several years, its garden waste collections have been free.

From October next year, West Oxfordshire residents will be able to put the majority of recycling items, which currently go in black boxes, all together into a wheelie bin.

But glass will still need to be placed in a black box as it has to be collected separately and food waste will continue to be collected weekly. A new kerbside collection for small electrical items will be also introduced.

• WODC HQ in Witney

In line with most other councils, recycling collections will become fortnightly and alternate with the general household rubbish collection.

The above were included in the recommendations for future changes to the waste service, to start when the current contract ends in October 2017.

Ubico Ltd will be its new waste and recycling contractor from October 2017.

Richard Langridge, cabinet member for the environment said: "In a recent survey, most people (70 per cent) told us they would prefer a wheelie bin for recycling and do not want to sort all their recycling materials.

"As our residents are amongst the best in the country for recycling, we are keen to introduce any changes that make it easier for them."

Pupils pedal way to £14,000 sum for city's hospice

By Katriona Ormiston

THREE Oxfordshire pupils have raised £14,000 on a marathon charity cycling trip from Bicester to Bilbao for Oxford children and young people's hospice Helen & Douglas House.

Radley College classmates Alex Milne, Cosmo Cotton and Alistair Gethin peddled 1,150km from Oxfordshire through France and into Spain where they arrived tired but proud at the Guggenheim Museum in Bilbao on July 17.

They had set out on July 4 and had a budget of £50 a night for accommodation between them.

Alex, of Lyford near West Hanney, said: "It was at times extremely mentally tough but through these more difficult times we would give each other encouragement and we made the journey in one piece.

"Every kilometre was just about another £15 for Helen & Douglas House and that was extremely motivating."

The boys had originally aimed to raise £7,500 but have so far achieved almost double that with £13,894.

Cosmo said: "It was an amazing experience and none of us regret any part of it. I would do it again."

Alistair called it an "incredible experience" which they would do again if they could, and joked: "However, a support van would be nice if I did!"

The trio chose Helen & Douglas House because the charity supports teenagers and they have visited the hospice twice since their trip.

They said they know how lucky they were to be able to go out with friends, play sports and travel to festivals – things which often hospice users are not able to.

Janet Carruzzo, community fundraiser at Helen & Douglas House, said: "These three young men have completed an amazing challenge both physically and with their fundraising.

"They thought their first target of £7,500 was ambitious but to raise over £13,000 is extraordinary. I'm sure this will have been a life-changing trip for them and we are so grateful."

To donate go to https://www.justgiving.com/teams/bicestertobilbao.

Helen & Douglas House, in Magdalen Road, was the world's first children's hospice when it opened in 1982.

News Bites

Need to improve

CHIPPING NORTON: A Chipping Norton care home has been told it needs to improve by inspectors of the Care Quality Commission (CQC).

Beech Haven in Burford Road was rated 'requires improvement' in the CQC report published last month after an unannounced inspection in January.

It looks after up to 29 elderly people and is run by Maricare Limited.

The report said: "People felt safe living at Beech Haven.

"People's relatives told us they felt the service was safe.

"Staff were aware of their responsibilities in keeping people safe from harm."

It added: "However, we identified instances where there was no evidence available that the provider was doing all that is reasonably practicable to prevent avoidable harm or risk of harm to people."

Road closure

THAME: Part of the A329 Rycote Lane linking Thame to the M40 junction 7 at Milton Common will be shut for roadworks on Monday for four days.

Oxfordshire County Council will be carrying out maintenance work on a section or road outside Rycote Lane Farm, just west of the Oxfordshire Golf Hotel and Spa.

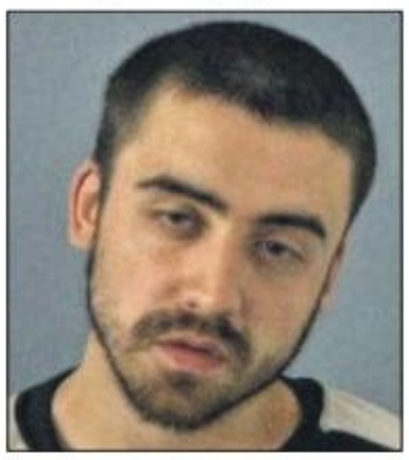
A diversion for drivers will be put in place along the A418 Wheatley to Thame road running through Tiddington.

Man sought over robbery

POLICE are searching for a man wanted in connection with an armed robbery of a Post Office in Banbury.

A man threatened staff at Easington Post Office in Horton View with what looked like a black handgun and made off on foot with cash at about 3.20pm on Saturday, July 30.

Danny Walsh, 25, pictured, is wanted in connection with the robbery and is known to sometimes sleep in a tent in and around the town.



He is white with short black hair and a black beard. Police said it was likely he would be wearing dark-coloured clothing, possibly a hooded top and black trousers.

Senior investigating officer, Det Insp Nick Glister said: "If you see Walsh, please do not approach him, instead call police on 999.

"If you have information about Walsh, his whereabouts or in a non-emergency, please call police on 101."

He added: "I would like to reassure the local community that we are conducting a thorough investigation into this serious offence. We have already spoken to a number of witnesses, obtained CCTV and carried out extra patrols in the area."

Callers should quote reference number 405 (31/7).

WIN Breakfast at Tiffany's tickets for the Theatre Royal Haymarket

BREAKFAST at Tiffany's, the classic tale of Holly Golightly written by Truman Capote and so memorably portrayed by Audrey Hepburn in the iconic 1961 film, is being given a new lease of life as a stage play with music in a sparkling, sophisticated production starring the multi award-winning Pixie Lott as Holly.

Adapted by Pulitzer Prize finalist and Tony and Olivier Award-winning playwright Richard Greenberg and directed by Nikolai Foster, this tale of vivacious, good-time girl Holly Golightly and her fantastical existence in 1940s New York City, is told through the eyes of a young writer named Fred, played by Matt Barber (Downton Abbey), who is completely fascinated by this exquisite extrovert who every woman wants to be, and every man wants to be with.

With memorable songs from the era, this stylish production is set to capture the hearts of audiences and sparkle like a diamond in a Tiffany's window.

Closing date: Friday, August 12

Following a tour of the UK and Ireland since March, Breakfast at Tiffany's will have a 12 week run at the Theatre Royal Haymarket.

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions", or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

Sequel to hit Oxford stage

GERALDINE McCaughrean's novel will be brought to life when 'Peter Pan in Scarlett' visits the Oxford Playhouse from Friday, August 12, to Sunday, September 4.

By James Richings

Labelled as the official sequel to 'Peter Pan' written by J.M. Barrie in 1911, the family-fun production comes to the Beaumont Street venue as part of its first UK tour after making its debut at the New Vic Theatre in Woking last month.

And for actor Isaac Stanmore who plays Peter Pan, the chance to be one of the world's most popular children's story characters was an offer to good to refuse, with the 27-year-old hoping that the Oxford faithful will enjoy this new production.

"The cool thing about our production is that this is the very first time 'Peter Pan In Scarlet' has been adapted for the stage," he told the Guardian.

"So you join the story knowing so much about the characters but we have the freedom to adapt and stage it in any way our imagination takes us because we are treading new ground."

"And I got involved in the production because I have worked with the director Theresa Heskins a number of times."

The production is set in 1929 and sees Wendy and the Lost Boys, (a group led by Peter) reach adulthood when strange dreams begin to seep out of Neverland. Pirates, mermaids, war and crocodiles feature in these dreams, giving Wendy the feeling that something must be wrong in the land where forever you can remain young.

So when Wendy finds out that Peter needs help, she and the Lost Boys don their children's clothes and, armed only with fairy dust, fly back to Neverland for one last adventure.

Isaac said: "Everyone knows the characters so well already as all of us have grown up with Peter Pan, Wendy and the Lost Boys, that you just can't wait to find out what happens next to all the characters you love."

Tickets cost from £11.50 to £24. The show is for children aged six and over.

Leech to play Wantage gig

WITH more than 100 gigs a year, they are one of the UK's most popular covers bands.

And you can see what all the fuss is about when the London-based group Leech performs at The Bell in Wantage on Sunday, August 7.

Performing popular rock numbers from decades gone by, the band is known for its long sets which can last up to two and half hours.

But for lead singer Lawrence McGee, who works in IT during the day, the chance to rock out to numerous punters all over the country was a golden opportunity.

"When you have an appreciative, receptive audience, it really fires us up and we give more in our performance," Lawrence told the Guardian.

"It's a great feeling to make people happy and see them enjoying themselves.

"And I met the drummer through a mutual friend at a studio in London and the bass player through an advertisement in a paper edition of Loot, this was before the Internet exploded so we are showing our age.

By Lawrence McGee

"I sing lead vocals and play guitar, we have a bass player and a drummer.

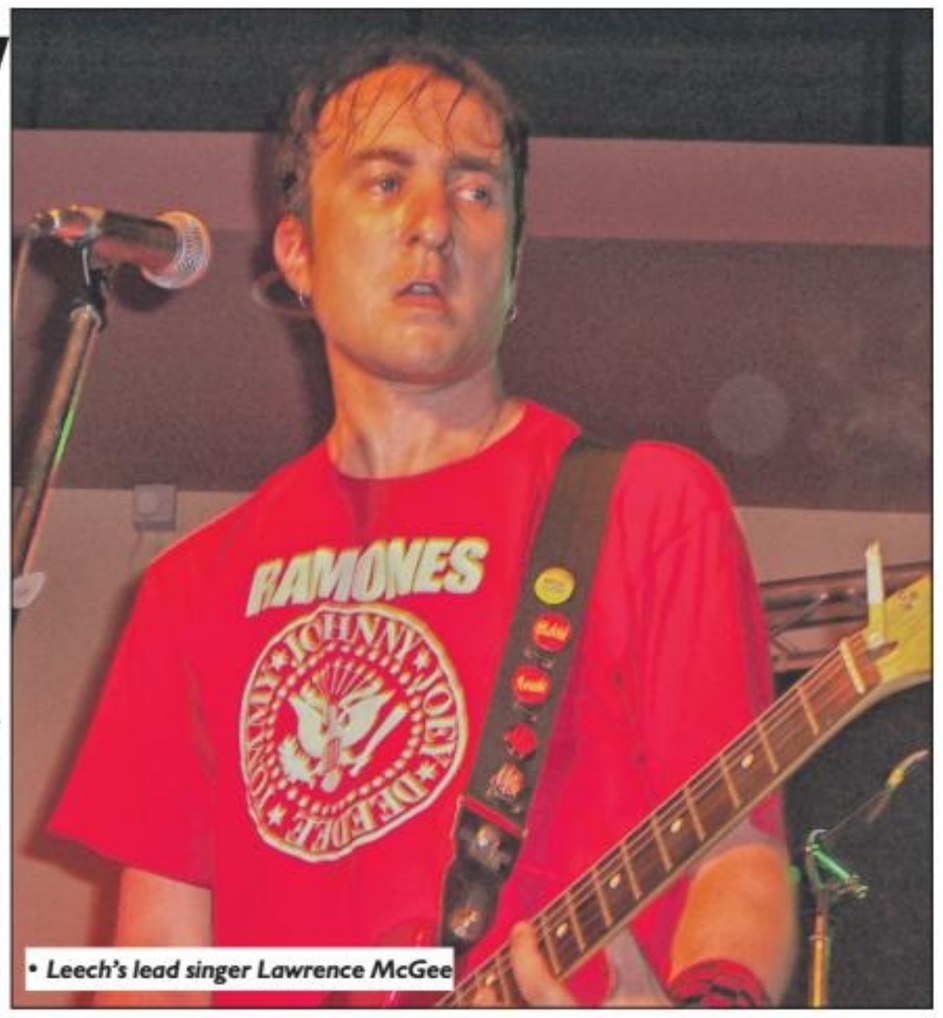
"I have various stand-in members as well as you can't expect everyone to make it all the time as people do have other commitments."

When Lawrence and his bandmates visit Wantage, the trio will perform songs from the likes of The Kings of Leon, The Beatles, REM, Pink Floyd, Green Day, Nirvana, Kaiser Chiefs, Undertones, Sex Pistols, The Jam, Oasis and The Who.

As well as pubs, bars and clubs, Leech has also gigged at some very popular venues.

The three friends have performed at Aintree Racecourse, the venue for the Grand National, and Wembley Stadium as well as other football grounds including the Ewood Park home of Blackburn Rovers, Brentford's Griffin Park and Selhurst Park, the home of Crystal Palace.

The band has also gigged in Nice.



• Leech's lead singer Lawrence McGee

So with an impressive CV which has seen them travel all over the country and beyond, Lawrence is confident that the audience at the Market Place pub will enjoy their show.

"On the night, there will be a good party atmosphere, sing-along tunes and certainly some encores, and since we have played at The Bell before, it's a great venue and the audience are always great so definitely happy to be back."

The band's free gig at the pub starts at 5pm.

Matt Edwards Band

LIVE MUSIC: The Matt Edwards Band will be performing at Oxford's Haven Club on Thursday, August 11, at 8pm.

WIDEX APPROVED DISPENSING CENTRE

Why people choose us.

Keith Donaghy has over 30 years experience in helping thousands of people in Oxfordshire to hear clearly and precisely. There is no satisfactory quick fix when it comes to your hearing health, as claimed by some high street retailers advertising in the media. It takes time and a dedicated, expert hearing aid audiologist to help you hear well again.

Keith Donaghy Hearingcare is a full time dedicated hearing aid clinic. We are purely hearing care specialists (nothing more, nothing less), unlike some other branded retailers which are chemists or opticians and who have limited access to hearing aid manufacturers. As we are a completely independent hearing aid clinic we are not tied financially, or in any other way, to any particular hearing aid manufacturer therefore we can provide the best system for each client. We can also prescribe the latest brand new technology immediately it becomes available and many of our clients return to us for upgrades keeping their hearing ability in tip top condition continuously.

Good clear hearing is what everybody wants and a fully trained, experienced and independent hearing aid audiologist can help you achieve the best from a new hearing system.

At Keith Donaghy Hearing care all patients receive a full aftercare programme with help, advice, rehabilitation and retuning of your hearing aid system so that you are always hearing clearly.

A hearing aid is only as good as the audiologist prescribing and programming it.

Blues band is to set feet tapping

A MIXTURE of original tunes and covers will be on the menu when Jukes Blues arrive at The Nag's Head, Abingdon, on Saturday, August 6.

By James Richings

The Reading-based band, made up of Laura Jones on vocals, George Darling on vocals and keyboards, guitarist and vocalist Mike Bishop, Chris Curtis on bass and vocals and drummer Mike Goff, will play popular blues tunes from years gone by along with some self-penned tracks.

And with the gig being performed in the garden of the pub rather than inside it, drummer Mike hopes the customers will enjoy the group's diverse repertoire.

"The audience can be reassured that we do not play crying-in-your-beer blues music," he told the Guardian.

"On the night, you'll be able to see a barnstorming, three-set gig with a lot of rhythm and blues classics with some less well-known stuff along with some material we have not played at The Nag's Head before."

Named by guitarist Mike Bishop, the band started in 2008 and is called Jukes Blues because despite taking the blues genre by storm, each of the band members have 'broad tastes in music' when it comes to other genres.

In the last eight years, the group has seen many personnel changes, with Chris, Mike Goff and Laura all joining over the last six years.

George and Mike Bishop are the only two original members.

The band is confident that its set on Saturday will be one of its best.

After this Saturday's gig, the group of five friends willbe performing at the New Inn in Witney on August 13.

"You could say that three members of the band (Mike B, myself and Chris) are full-time musicians as they have all retired from the day job," drummer Mike told the Guardian.

"Laura is a manager in the retail division of Oxfam, and George is a geoscientist with the Natural Environment Research Council.

"And Mike B came up with the name because it is meant to convey that while the blues is at the core of what we do, we have broad tastes in music and don't want to be pigeonholed too much, hence the allusion to the kind of variation you would expect from a jukebox."

He added: "Both the four-piece and five-piece versions of the band have performed at The Nag's Head, though not outdoors as is planned for August 6.

"The Nag's Head attracts people interested in live music so we like playing there."

The group's free gig will start at 9pm.

Skoda Octavia vRS 4X4 2.0 TDi 184PS proves carmakers are not the poorer relative of Volkswagen

Skoda will put a smile on your face

MANY people still say that Skoda is nothing more than a cheaper version of a VW. Of course, I disagree with this with much venom because Skoda have proved to me over the last few years that they are more than capable of standing on their own two feet - and I, for one, now look at Skoda as an individual company and not a second-class part of VW.

By Anthony Yates

For instance, you wouldn't turn down a date with Kylie Minogue just because she was driving a Skoda instead of a VW would you? Exactly! That's my point; Skoda is just as good as a VW, if not sometimes a little better.

INTERIOR & TECHNOLOGY

First off, I'm so glad to see that the designers at Skoda have paid a lot more attention to the detail inside the cabin of the vRS and happily it now feels more refreshing and modern than the vRS model I tested a while ago. Also the seats are really comfy and the controls are well set out.

Inside, there's also plenty of standard kit such as air-con, cruise control, dual-zone climate control, acoustic rear parking sensors, Amundsen satellite navigation system, Bluetooth hands-free, three-spoke, multi-function steering wheel with DSG paddles, cruise control, driver fatigue sensor, energy recovery and lane assist.

Space inside the Octavia is also very good, easily managing to accommodate a family of four. The boot space alone is also huge - and you would have no trouble at all fitting in your mother-in-law or any other sort of baggage.

ON THE ROAD:

The 184PS 2.0 TDi engine that's fitted in the vRS – it's enthusiastic and pretty much a perfect fit. Also, into the corners, the chassis feels poised and tight and easily deals with all the potholes and bumps we keep finding on our British roads. The steering also feels light and direct, while Skoda's 4X4 system has been brilliantly set up to be in tune with the Octavia, giving you maximum grip in most situations.

POWER AND EFFICIENCY:

The 2.0-litre diesel engine has a 0-62 time of 7.6 seconds and a top speed of 142mph. Fuel consumption is also good, giving a combined figure of 57.7mpg. Safety also seems paramount for Skoda, as it has front side airbags and curtain airbags. It also comes with ESC including EBV, MSR, ASR, EDS, HBA and DSR all as standard.

TO SUM UP:

I like the Octavia vRS because it has a lot to offer and is practical, fun to drive, has bags of torque and plenty of space on the inside. Big Skoda smile then here.

Price: £29,475

LISHED USED CAR RETAILER

Do you know the difference between an mot and a service ?

Many customers assume that when an mot is carried out on there vehicle it will ensure that the vehicle is safe and ready to use on the road,well believe it or not this in some cases this is not correct ,in fact a vehicle can pass the mot and not be fit for use on the public highway !!

The mot standards are very low and are purely there to assess the condition of the vehicle on the day,on many occasions it is not uncommon to pass a vehicle with tyres and brakes just over the test standards then a week or so later the vehicle owner needing to have the parts renewed.

When we carry out an mot test,we always explain to the customer the findings and the sensible vehicle owners tend to listen and have items replaced that are just on the pass limit.

We can not emphasie enough how important it is to have a service along side an mot to ensure your vehicle is safe and fit for use on the public highway,service standards are far more robust and will highlight issues that an mot is simply not designed to do plus with most modern vehicles electrics on a service correctly done the garage will use a laptop or similar to interogate the complex electronics to pick up any hidden issues.

Many customers are on a budget and wrongly assume that by missing a service they save money,well that is a myth , think of it like this you use the car daily,you carry children,pets,shopping,friends and you go to work,holidays,days out etc in your car and you expect all of this in total reliability and safety in a car you have spent £1000s of your hard earned cash on .Yet you are doing this without anything more than a mot test once a year in the mistaken belief the mot will ensure your safety.

We see countless customers who arrive on the back of a breakdown wagon simply because simple service checks/ replacements have been missed and the customer have had there holiday,day out or trip to work ruined because they do not understand the mot scheme.

Thompson & Terry RECRUITMENT

Position: Apprentice Recruitment Resourcer
Location: Abingdon (OX14)
Salary: £Competitive
Sector: Sales, Administration, Customer Service, Recruitment

Opportunity:
An opportunity has arisen internally with Thompson & Terry Recruitment for an apprentice to join our quirky office in Central Abingdon. We are on the lookout for the next 'big thing' in the recruitment profession; somebody with the drive, hunger and raw talent to join our ranks. Upon entering our office you will need a warm smile, drive and a genuine interest in sales and administration. This must be matched by a hunger to forge a long and prosperous career within the recruitment sector.

Located in a Grade 2 Listed Victorian office, upon entering you will be greeted by a sea of smiles! We actively promote hard work and we fully encourage, reward and celebrate individual and team successes. Previous apprentices have enjoyed regular incentives including corporate hospitality at Oxford United fixtures, regular team outings to Oxfordshire restaurants and team bonding sessions at 'Bounce' in Milton Keynes. Past recruits have been recognised on local radio and in print media including appearances in the Oxfordshire Guardian, Oxford Mail, B4 magazine, InBusiness magazine and the Herald.

We are all about combing fun and success! Our existing team structure is a tight unit who combine a strong work ethic alongside office humour whilst showcasing ambition and encouraging internal progression at every opportunity. We seek to break the shackles of the typical recruitment day to day; our guys are easy going, able to forge close working relationships and support colleague development. Whilst we recognise there will be the occasional office lulls, there is always somebody on hand with office treats (cakes!) to liven up the workplace.

The recruitment industry offers an eclectic mix of candidates, clients, fighting fires and more highs than lows. You will be expected to attend regular networking events, represent Thompson & Terry Recruitment at careers events across local schools and colleges, respond to applications, source candidates, appear in promotional material and manage administrative tasks. Combing your office duties alongside a recruitment or administrative focused qualification; the invaluable experience that you will receive from our award winning young entrepreneurs is not to be missed.

If this sounds like something for you, don't forget to wear your smile (even on a bad day!).

To apply please send a copy of your CV and covering letter to jobs@thompsonandterry.co.uk

Strategy mistake for Williams as Bottas limps home in ninth place

By Adam Flinn

POOR strategy cost Valtteri Bottas a better result in Sunday's German Grand Prix as his Williams slipped from seventh to ninth in the closing stages of the race.

The Grove-based squad switched Bottas to a two-stop strategy during the race after he was passed by Nico Hulkenberg, meaning the Finn would have to do 34 laps on his final set of soft tyres.

When Hulkenberg pitted for his third stop, Bottas moved up to seventh and had a 15 second gap to the Force India driver.

But his tyres struggled badly towards the end, and an ever slower Bottas was re-passed by Hulkenberg and then by Jenson Button, although he was able to hold off Sergio Perez to claim ninth.

"There was definitely something wrong with our tyre calculations, because there was no way to get to the end on that set of tyres," said Bottas.

"The stint was just way too long and that really cost us some points."

Rob Smedley, Williams' head of performance engineering, added: "With Valtteri, we tried a strategy which clearly didn't work.

"We deployed the wrong tactics in the race, which is something we've got to learn from."

It was an even worse afternoon for Bottas' team-mate Felipe Massa, whose race was ruined on the first lap when he was hit from behind by Jolyon Palmer's Renault.

The collision caused damage that greatly affected Massa's car, although the team couldn't work out what was wrong during the race.

After struggling round towards the back, Massa eventually retired on lap 36.

Palmer also had problems after the clash, and had to change his front wing at his second stop which eventually led to him coming home 19th.

He said: "I had a big lock up in turn two and massively flat-spotted my tyres.

"I could barely see where I was going because of the vibrations and I tipped a Williams whilst trying to hold on from one of the McLarens.

"It's a shame but we can take the positives, put the rest behind us and focus on the second half of the season."

Palmer's Renault team-mate Kevin Magnussen had similar issues to Bottas after committing to a two-stop strategy, and finished well down the order in 16th after slipping back in the later laps.

There was no luck for Banbury-based Haas either, with Esteban Gutierrez just missing out on his first points for the team after coming 11th.

His team-mate Romain Grosjean was two places further back in 13th, while the Manor pairing of Pascal Wehrlein and Rio Haryanto brought their cars home in 17th and 20th respectively.

Formula One now takes its summer break, and returns to action for the Belgian Grand Prix on August 28.

Haryanto hoping to keep going

MANOR Racing driver Rio Haryanto is hoping Sunday's German Grand Prix won't be his last in Formula One.

The Indonesian signed with the Banbury-based outfit at the start of the season, having provided funding to run in the first 11 races of the year.

That took him up to last week's Hungarian Grand Prix, with a deal subsequently being done to extend that to the German race at Hockenheim on Sunday, where he came 20th.

The 23-year-old and his management team are now set for talks with Manor bosses in the coming weeks as they seek to find the investment for the nine remaining races of the season.

Haryanto said after Sunday's race: "It was a good weekend for us and a nice result for the team.

"There's not too much rest though, we're busy working to ensure I continue into the second half of the season.

"But I do wish the rest of the team a good break because it has been a very long 12 races and everyone has worked incredibly hard."

Renault reserve driver Esteban Ocon and former Manor driver Alexander Rossi are among the names being touted to replace Haryanto for the rest of the year if the funds aren't found.

Lynn is back on form with victory

OXFORD-BASED racer Alex Lynn finally returned to the top step of the GP2 podium with victory in the sprint race in Germany on Sunday, putting an end to a miserable run of results.

The DAMS driver produced a dominant performance to take the lead off the start from pole sitter Antonio Giovinazzi, and never looked back.

There was plenty of action going on behind him, but Lynn eased clear to earn his first win since the opening sprint race of the season in Spain back in May.

Sunday's result followed his seventh-place finish in the feature race on Saturday – a race he had been leading but dropped back after colliding with Norman Nato and picking up a penalty.

"It's nice to be back at the front and fighting for where we believe we should be," said Lynn.

"Saturday was disappointing with how the race unfolded, but to be honest the last two weekends we've been feeling pretty positive about how we feel we're going in the right direction."

Lynn is ninth in the standings, and next returns to action in Belgium on August 27 and 28.

Saints one win away from the perfect season

OXFORD Saints continued their undefeated season with another emphatic 62–0 victory over the Jurassic Coast Raptors at Tilsley Park on Sunday.

The Saints now head towards their final league match with the prospect of a perfect 10–0 league record after a one-sided encounter which saw them run in eight touchdowns to nil.

The Saints opened the scoring with a huge 40-yard touchdown pass from Destin Mauling to scorer James Walter. Goal-kicker Sam Fielden added the extras.

With the Raptors struggling to gain yards, safety Michael Bearman then intercepted a punt from the opposition in the endzone to touch down and double their lead.

There was a debut for new recruit Tony Glover who made an impressive start, gaining 33 yards with his first play, before Luke Fry ran in from two yards.

Walter then got his second after another pass from Mauling set up Grant Tebb for a 40-yard gain, with Walter scoring off the second down.

Two more touchdowns quickly followed to give them Saints a 32–0 lead at half-time.

Following the break, Glover again showed his speed with a 35-yard touchdown. Two more touchdowns completed the rout.

The Saints now await the quarter-final draw as they head into their last game of the regular season at home against Swindon Storm on August 14.

Oxford United Women sting Bees in revenge

By George Welch

OXFORD United Women beat London Bees 4-2 in a Women's Super League 2 six-goal thriller on Sunday.

United got back to winning ways in style, avenging their 3-1 reverse away to the Bees last month.

A record crowd of 1,211 turned out at the Northcourt for United's Family Fun Day and the bumper crowd was treated to a sensational match, with top scorer Ini Umotong netting twice alongside goals from Ellie Noble and Lauren Allison.

Chances were few and far between until United opened the scoring on the half-hour mark, sparking an avalanche of goals.

The breakthrough came when top scorer Umotong headed beyond the dive of goalkeeper Beth Davies and into the far corner of the net.

The visitors responded shortly after when Eva Popadinova's effort crept past United goalkeeper Demi Lambourne just inside the post.

But the scores were level for just a minute as Noble was on hand to powerfully strike low into the bottom corner and register her first senior goal.

And just two minutes later, it was three as Ella Franklin-Fraiture's superb raking through ball put Allison in behind and she made no mistake when one on one, poking the ball past the helpless keeper at the front post.

The visitors responded well after the break and pulled a goal back nine minutes in, but Umotong struck again on the hour mark.

But it was all smiles at the final whistle as the U's brought their four-match losing run to an end and sent the bumper crowd home happy.

Noble, a product of United's youth system, was delighted to open her account for the season.

She said: "It was really good. I'd been talking to a couple of the other players before the match about it and said that if I scored I would go mental. I've had a couple of free kicks which have gone close but when that one went in I was just so happy and relieved more than anything.

"I couldn't have thought of anything better than that, especially at that time in the game, coming just after they had equalised."

Manager Les Taylor said: "I was really pleased with Ellie today and I hope she goes on and scores more."

Oxford-born rower competes in Bristol's first rowing regatta

SHE may not have come away victorious, but Oxford-born Becky Pykett insisted she loved every minute of her moment in the spotlight at the inaugural Invesco Perpetual City Regatta.

Pykett and her colleagues got their own competitive juices flowing in Bristol's Millennium Square on July 21 as they bid to be the best team over 1km on Concept 2 rowing machines.

The Invesco Perpetual City Regatta is a new challenge which sees four-strong male and female crews compete head to head in a series of fast and furious regatta-style knock-out races live on stage in four cities across the UK.

Pykett, a gym manager, competed in Bristol and while she and her AM Sport Ladies teammates were unable to earn local bragging rights, the 31-year-old insisted it had still been good to pit her wits against other rowers.

She said: "We do CrossFit, and one of the good things about it is that it teaches you a lot of mental strength, and I think a lot of this sort of stuff is mental strength so I think we've done really well.

"We finished 0.3 seconds behind the winners, and we're really surprised with how well we did.

"When we first saw all the professional rowers, we were a bit worried, but we decided just to have fun."

Invesco Perpetual's innovative new 'City Regatta' event is a celebration of the achievements of Leander Club, the main feeder club to the GB team with 23 of its rowers headed for Rio, and aims to encourage more people across the UK to get involved in rowing.

Pykett added: "It's fantastic that Invesco Perpetual have brought rowing to the centre of Bristol like this. The atmosphere is amazing and it gives you such a good buzz."

Oxford come back from behind in disappointing 3-3 tie

U's end pre-season with a draw

By George Welch

OXFORD United finished their preparations for the new season with a disappointing 3-3 draw at League Two Barnet.

Despite the U's being two goals down after 11 minutes, United came back strongly via a brace from striker Wes Thomas.

Michael Appleton's side fell 3-2 behind after a John Akinde penalty - his second attempt of the day after previously missing from the spot – before United came back one final time to level matters through sub Dan Crowley.

Barnet were in front after just seven minutes with a neat finish from Curtis Weston, who ghosted in at the far post and side-footed a volley home from an Akinde cross.

The big forward then turned goalscorer himself after another decent move allowed him to surge to the end of the area and thump his shot inside the right-hand post, with Simon Eastwood helpless.

The U's needed a goal before the break and began to get close.

Ryan Taylor had a 22-yard effort deflected wide on 20 minutes and Christian Ribeiro got forward from right back to fire into the side on the half hour.

On 43 minutes it was the excellent Alex MacDonald who got his side back into it, sending in a superb cross for Thomas to head past keeper Josh Vickers to make it 2-1 at the break.

Thomas then levelled affairs three minutes into the second half with a superb finish.

Playing with more tempo United were well on top but had a big let off when Akinde rolled a penalty wide after he had been fouled just inside the box.

But on 65 minutes the powerful striker made amends when Aaron Martin tripped him in the box and Akinde picked himself up and converted beyond Eastwood making it 3-2.

New signings Kane Hemmings and Tyler Roberts were given the final half hour for their first appearances.

Roberts sent an effort just over with his first meaningful contribution and Hemmings was a constant threat on the shoulder of the last defender.

After Hemmings saw an effort rebound off the post, fellow sub Crowley equalised for the visitors with a tap in to make it 3-3 with 10 minutes to spare.

Downs stay top with Vale up to second

OXFORD Downs continued their run at the top of the Cherwell Cricket League Div 2 last weekend with an impressive win over Sandford St Martin within seven wickets.

Bowler Tom Costley's five wickets destroyed the Sandford batting order, to leave them 26 - 6 before Thomas Goffe's 51 runs from 38 balls helped bring them up to 136 all out.

Oxford Downs then took to batting with Chris Sandbach and Will Watts' partnership of 102 making huge inroads towards the total. Watts' 74 runs gave him a 100 per cent batting average, including 17 fours, to help reach Sandford's total, within seven wickets.

Meanwhile Abingdon Vale moved up into second place behind the Downs with a victory over Wolverton Town.

With Ben Charlesworth and Samuel Lion-Cachet notching up 92 runs to set Abingdon on a good start, and Sam Chilvers' adding 33 from 29 balls, Vale declared on 163 - 9.

Strong bowling from Paul White and Dan Hartley then ended the chase for Wolverton, - who finished on 60 all out - to win by 128 runs.

Ardley start with win

• Elias Katsoloudi bagged the winner for Ardley

ARDLEY United opened their Hellenic Premier League season with a 1-0 victory at Thatcham Town's Waterside Park on Tuesday.

Elias Katsoloudi proved the match winner after the forward drilled home from close range on 20 minutes, following a flick on from a long defensive clearance.

On a damp and gloomy evening in Berkshire, Ardley weathered a second half barrage from their hosts, but the defence stood firm and restricted Town to long range efforts.

Thatcham hit the post early on after a break away attack saw Jemel Johnson feed Jon Bennett but his deft flick bounced back off the upright, and Joel Meade was on hand to clear.

Once Katsoloudi scored for the visitors the game was left with long range efforts that went wide or over, and Ardley had a couple of late chances with Thatcham pushing for an equaliser, but the points headed back to Ardley on the opening day of the season.

Manager Paul Davis said afterwards: "I thought we were excellent from start to finish tonight.

"I thought we managed the game fantastically well, we've taken our goal well, and in the end we've had the better chances in the game.

"We restricted them to a couple of long distance efforts, a few crosses to deal with but Lee (Farrow) never really had a save to make."

Ardley's FA Cup journey begins on Saturday with an Extra Preliminary Round home match against Tuffley Rovers.

Dramatic collapse denies Pepperell first tour win

EDDIE Pepperell missed his chance to secure his first victory on the European circuit after throwing away a five shot lead in the last four holes in Thailand.

The 25-year-old shared the lead with Shi-chang Chan of China with four holes to go.

But after registering a double-bogey and three bogeys, the Frilford Heath golfer slipped to joint sixth, finishing on -7 and five shots behind the winner Chan.

After the collapse, Pepperell was very critical of his own performance.

He said: "It's not often I wouldn't mind being in someone else's brain, but for a while yesterday I would have taken it.

"Golf can be a cruel game and my mind was dark for a period, both on the course and after I had finished.

"I have a problem. It's not mental and it's not physical – it's technical.

"For me, people overstate the mental aspect of golf."

He added: "That's not to say a clear head isn't important, it's just a competent, repeatable technique is more important.

"It happens on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays as well – for a year, my technique has regressed.

"Everything shows that, from my stats to my scores."

He has recently dropped eight places to 162 in the world.

He is placed in 11th position for the driver standings on 125 points.

New scoreboard

FOOTBALL: Oxford United have ordered a new digital scoreboard to replace the one that broke last season.

The installation will be capable of handling videos, images and advertising.

It won't be installed in the same location as the previous scoreboard, but the club have yet to decide where it will be placed within the stadium grounds.

It is to be fitted soon, but not before the season's opener.

Two new strikers help bolster United's attack

By George Welch

WITH Oxford set to compete in their first League One fixture in 15 years on Saturday, the U's have bolstered their forward line with two new additions.

Ahead of the season opener against Chesterfield at the Kassam Stadium, head coach Michael Appleton has recruited Kane Hemmings from Scottish Premier League side Dundee and Tyler Roberts from Premier League team West Brom.

Hemmings, who scored three goals in the opening two games of the season for Dundee before his switch, moved to Oxford for an undisclosed fee after the Yellows activated the 24-year-old's release fee.

The Englishman, who joined Dundee last summer after leaving Barnsley, scored 25 goals in the last campaign and has signed a three-year deal at the Kassam Stadium.

And Appleton believes Hemmings is the striking addition the club needs to fire in the goals in League One.

He said: "Hemmings is the proven goalscorer that we've talked about and he enjoyed a fantastic season last year.

"There were a few clubs looking at him but we have talked to him, told him what we are about down here in Oxford and we are delighted to welcome him to the club.

"Credit to the Chairman and the board who have backed the deal."

Meanwhile, 17-year-old Roberts arrives on a loan deal until January.

The youngster made his senior debut for West Brom against Liverpool in May and signed his first professional contract at The Hawthorns in January.

Roberts, who is a Welsh under-19 international, said joining Oxford United is "a great opportunity at a great club" and will provide competition for Hemmings, Wes Thomas, and Ryan Taylor.

The duo join Thomas as this season's new attacking signings following Kemar Roofe's record sale to Championship side Leeds United.

Oxford remain in the Scottish market, with the U's reportedly chasing Motherwell striker Marvin Johnson.

The 25-year-old has been in fine form for the Steelmen so far this season, netting three goals.
